

Bud Dry

Introduced:	1989
Beer Category/Style:	Premium Regular – Dry lager.
Taste Profile:	Lighter body and less-sweet taste, with fewer calories than most American lagers.
Ingredients/Brewing:	Brewed for characteristic light body and less sweet finish with select hops, grains and barley malt.
Interesting Facts:	Bud Dry's beer style is a hybrid between an American lager and an American light lager – the lack of sweetness and dry, crisp finish is reminiscent of a light beer, but the alcohol strength is similar to that of a full-bodied lager.
Further Information:	Visit www.anheuser-busch.com

###